WHAT IS TARGET DRAWDOWN?

Cabana numerically quantifies acceptable levels of risk by identifying a "target drawdown" percentage for each portfolio at the onset of the investment process.

Monthly returns are used to calculate the drawdown percentage. This method of measurement creates a new "high-water mark" each time the portfolio's value increases, which means drawdown is determined from a portfolio's highest value, not from an investor's starting balance.

Drawdown is defined as the maximum loss, or amount an investment can be expected to fall, from peak to trough during adverse market conditions.

All portfolios in the Target Drawdown Professional Series are constructed with the primary goal of minimizing losses where possible - especially losses that exceed a portfolio's target drawdown parameter. This investment philosophy allows clients to remain fully invested at all times, set expectations for loss, and actively participate in favorable market conditions.

The COVID-19 health epidemic has had substantial global economic impact on financial markets. As of March of 2020, restrictions to travel and business spanning the economy for activities not deemed essential have been imposed throughout the United States. These restrictions have caused unprecedented volatility and uncertainty in capital markets and have negatively impacted the economy. It is unknown how severe the impact to the economy and capital markets will be if the epidemic persists for an extended period of time. The epidemic may have a material adverse impact on Cabana's investment advisory business including, but not limited to, the performance of our portfolio strategies.
